

BUZZY MULLAHKHEL

As a current member of the city council, and serving on the planning commission prior, it has been incredible to see how much North Logan has grown and changed. We have vibrant new families, thriving businesses, and a community that is the best in the valley. But these changes do not come without problems.

With our rapid change, the need for balance becomes critical for elected officials. I commonly hear from many the need to maintain our green space and rural feel, and in the same conversation hear disappointment that children and grandchildren cannot afford to come back to our city to start and raise their own families. My Wife and I were fortunate and moved to North Logan over 20 years ago and have raised our four children here ever since. The best decision we have ever made!

While responsible spending and public safety should always be critical elements when considering who to vote for, I promise to also work hard finding the right balance by always listening to each resident in our city, and carefully weighing the impact of any issue that requires a decision. Thank you for your consideration.
