CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE: BUZZY MULLAHKHEL
buzaggie@gmail.com

As a current member of the City Council, and serving on the Planning Commission prior, it has been incredible to see how much North Logan has grown and changed. We have vibrant new families, thriving businesses, and a community that is the best in the valley. But these changes do not come without problems.

With our rapid change, the need for balance becomes critical for elected officials. I commonly hear from many, the need to maintain our green space and rural feel; and in the same conversation, hear disappointment that children and grandchildren cannot afford to come back to our city to start and raise their own families. My wife and I were fortunate and moved to North Logan over 20 years ago, and have raised our four children here ever since. The best decision we have ever made!

While responsible spending and public safety should always be critical elements when considering who to vote for, I promise to also work hard finding the right balance by always listening to each resident in our city, and carefully weighing the impact of any issue that requires a decision. Thank you for your consideration.

CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE: MARK HANCEY
markhancey@gmail.com

Experience

28 years practicing attorney. 6 years planning and zoning committee. North Logan City attorney and appeals officer. 25-year City resident. Husband and father of 4 college students.

Priorities

Voice Against Outside Pressures: The Utah State Legislature has recently enacted a multitude of laws dictating city conduct. The State is trying to mandate density. My professional experience affords me a unique ability to evaluate and analyze assumptions, review City business with a critical eye, and to help the City protect local discretion and preferences.

Keeping North Logan's General Plan "Our" Plan. The State is mandating all cities rewrite their general plans. Outside pressures want all cities to grow up like Layton. I will work to develop a master plan and implement ordinances that embody local values and priorities. I will not outsource our vision.

Advocating for the City and its Citizens. I advocate for a living. My job is to listen, understand and advocate for your interests.

CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE: JENNY R. WHITELEY
jennyrwhiteley@gmail.com

Hi North Logan residents!

Green alfalfa fields, feeling safe, quiet streets, knowing your neighbors, honesty-policy roadside stands, a small town feel—do you enjoy these aspects of living in North Logan and want to continue to enjoy them? I do! And that is why I am running for our city council. I am Jenny R. Whiteley and have lived here 22 years (out of 27). Currently, less than 4% of North Logan is zoned for open space and agriculture. Instead of being focused on growth, I will make preservation and protection of the small-town rural character of North Logan a top priority. I have the creativity and innovation needed for this task, as preservation must be done within the bounds of respect for private property. My priorities include keeping government small, open council meetings where elected officials include counseling with residents in decision making, local control over water, and reinstating the deer management solutions. I have very developed problem-solving capabilities and am committed to identifying and implementing simple solutions. I'm working on a PhD in physics and have a MS in physics.

CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE: KENNETH REESE

kenneth.reese@gmail.com

"I am running for North Logan City Council because I care deeply for our city and am passionate about maintaining our quality of life. I have lived in North Logan for 13+ years, worked here for 21 years, my children attend school here, and I plan to stay here for life, so I am fully invested in our community.

Some of my qualifications include: current vice-chair of the North Logan Planning Commission; degrees in electrical engineering from USU which have helped me develop a thorough, analytical approach to informing myself on issues; and extensive experience leading teams, negotiating solutions, managing budgets, and building relationships at Space Dynamics Laboratory.

My priorities include: preservation of North Logan's natural resources such as open spaces, water, and clean air; measured, organized, sustainable growth that balances housing demand with these finite resources; and managing these items with fiscal discipline and responsibility. While I still have much to learn, I can attest that I will serve North Logan free of bias or external influence, dedicate time to educate myself on all sides of the matters in question, and that my positions will be consistent with the principles and freedoms on which our society has been established."

CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE: BRAD CROOKSTON

brad@crookstondesigns.com

There's no better place to live than North Logan. Our high standard of living is built on our excellent location, beautiful open spaces, and, most importantly, our strong community. It's true that our high quality of life has driven up housing costs. However, I am resolute that we should not compromise our community's unique character in the name of 'Affordable Housing' initiatives. This type of development could alter the essence of what North Logan is.

As a principled conservative I stand firmly on the values enshrined in our Constitution, including the defense of your property rights. I oppose zoning changes that could dilute our community's quality and am committed to increasing transparency and ending wasteful spending in local governance. I also pledge to support our police force with the necessary tools to protect us and our children from today's unique threats.

If you share this vision for North Logan, vote for me, Brad Crookston, for City Council. Qualifications: Lifelong resident of North Logan, Master's Degree in Civil Engineering from Utah State University, Former Chair & Member of North Logan Planning Commission (2012-2017), Former Member of North Logan City Council (2018-2021).

CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE: ROGER T. ANDERSON

rogertheaggie@aol.com

My name is Roger Anderson. I have loved making North Logan my home for the past 42 years. I am the lucky father of six children and married to a wonderful wife. We also now have two grand kids.

I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as a member of the City Council for the past 12 years. My time on the council has given me a wealth of experience. It has been my privilege being part of decision making on behalf of our great citizens. As a councilman, I have done my best to follow our city's code, plan and policies and consider them first in my decisions. I have truly tried to approach every issue with an open mind. I welcome opposing viewpoints and find great value in differences of opinion. I appreciate citizens who have shared questions or concerns with me and have carefully considered their insights. One strength I bring to the current council is real world business experience. This has helped balance decision making and strengthen city policy, particularly in human resources and city employment. In my decision making, I have been fiscally responsible and have done my best to stretch the limited tax dollars the city has. My desire is to serve the residents of North Logan for the next four years.
